DENNISON PRECINCT ASKS CHANGE

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 29.—A petition asking that the Dennison precinct, in the Milo area, be taken out of the second supervisorial district and placed in the first district was presented to the Tulare county board of supervisors, Tuesday.

Carrying some 28 signatures, the petition called attention to the fact that residents of that area, are not associated with the rest of the second district, which extends across the county with Exeter and Tulare as its principal cities, but that their interest lies along the Tule river, in the Springville and Porterville areas.

The petition is being held by the supervisors while certain other adjustments in precincts and supervisorial districts are considered so that, possibly, all changes can be made in a single action.

Talk of placing Dennison precinct in supervisorial district No. 1 has been heard for several years, since the precinct includes the Balch park road. Contention has been that with the supervisor for the second district re-

TWO LETTERS STATE POSITION ON DECISION TO BUILD PRISON CAMP IN SPRINGVILLE VICINITY

SPRINGVILLE, Jan. 29 —Two letters from Springville residents concerning the state prison honor camp that is planned for construction in the area have been sent to C. E. Metcalf, deputy state forester, at Fresno. Ralph Army wrote the following:

"Dear Sir: I cannot see how you reconcile your action in announcing the installation of a minimum-security prison camp above Springville with your original statement that you would want a 'unanimous request' for it from the local residents, or your published statement (The Farm Tribune, December 18, 1958) that the camp would not be placed in Springville district unless "a strong majority" favor it.

CANTERBELLES "GO ON OWN"; FAIR DIRECTORS DISCUSS INSURANCE, JUDGING, SPACE

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 29—Directors of the Porterville Fair released Porterville's Canterbelles, girls' riding group, from sponsorship by the fair at a meeting held Tuesday night at Gang Sue's, after representatives of parents of Canterbelles told directors that the group would like to "go on its own."

Representing Canterbelle parents were Ed. Thompson and John Bussey, with Bussey stating that the group desired "one hundred per cent sponsorship by the fair," which involved immediate expenditure of $500 for new equipment plus other expenditures at a later date.

Fair directors said that the board could not afford this expenditure and that since the Canterbelles have developed into a well-organized, colorful riding group, there is no reason for their not operating without fair sponsorship.

Directors also stated that the question of fair sponsorship as compared to un-sponsorship operation has been discussed several times in the past. They said that since parents of the Canterbelles had now officially asked for the release, they were glad to give it.

In the board resolution releasing the Canterbelles, the group was complimented for its progress since being organized about 11 years ago, and "best wishes for the future" was extended by the fair board.

TWO IMPORTANT IRRIGATION DISTRICT DEALS SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK AS SAUCELITO VOTES, TERRA BELLA SELLS

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 29— The shape of some things to come for a good many years ahead will be determined next week by two important actions in southeastern Tulare county irrigation districts.

In the Saucelito district, voters will decide on Tuesday whether or not they will go into a $4,712,500 water distribution system construction program, financed over a period of 40 years, with interest-free federal funds.

Polling place is the district office, on avenue 120; poll will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. About 200 persons are eligible to vote.

At the Terra Irrigation district office, at 10 a. m., Monday, applications to buy some 2,300 acres of land, broken into 56 parcels, will be opened by district directors.

It is probable that not much land will be actually sold on Monday, since, if more than one person submits an application to buy on one parcel of land, either as a single parcel or in a combination, then those persons must re-submit their bid on or before February 9, at 10 a. m.

Details of the bidding plan, and map of parcels to be sold, are available at the Terra Bella Irrigation district office in Terra Bella.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Plan Heart Fund Drive

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 29—The Porterville Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodges have appointed V. W. Hollandsworth and Mrs. Henry Wilson, respectively, to head the organization of the lodge members collecting funds for the Heart association in Porterville on Heart Sunday, February 15.

Hollandsworth and Mrs. Wilson will enlist volunteers from the lodge, and others interested in making a door-to-door canvass for contributions to the Heart association's local, state and national program of medical research, community service and education.

"Heart trouble touches more families in Tulare county than any other disease," Hollandsworth said. Of the 1,211 people who passed away in Tulare county in 1957, 602 died because of heart disease.

The Heart Fund has been endorsed by the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. and the Rebekah Assembly as "an outstanding public service dedicated to the better health of the American people."

CHAPEL CHIMES

By Rev. N. J. Thompson

A young man found a $10 bill on the sidewalk. After that, he never lifted his eyes when walking. In the course of years, he accumulated 19,615 buttons, 34,172 pins, 13c, a bent back, and a miserly disposition!

How many men, on finding some plaything—a car, a career, a bottle, a bar—keep their eyes glued on it! If happiness grew with one's possessions, then we should all try madly to make a million. But happiness is not goods, but goodness. King Solomon had gold, glory, palaces, power—and 1,000 wives—but he sighed, "All is vanity and vexation of spirit!"

St. Paul encourages the Christian to "fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life," after warning that the love of money is the root of all evil (I Tim. 6:12).

Jesse Livermore, the greatest bear on Wall Street, died a suicide. So did the mighty monopolist, Ivar Kreuger. Samuel Insull, head of the huge utility company, died penniless, also steel magnate Charlie Schwab. These men, with their millions, could not buy laughter, joy, contentment. They realized, too late, that in scorning spiritual values they'd wasted their lives accumulating worthless buttons and pins.

"What shall it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own soul?" asked Jesus.

Thank God, not all Americans are dollar-mad. Multitudes across this great land drink at the fountain of spiritual wisdom. That's why America is great.

Are you looking down, gathering buttons and pins? Or looking up, finding love, joy, peace, faith, and other eternal values?

California field crops produced in California during 1958 had a combined value of $806,478,000.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator J. Howard Williams

32nd District California State Legislature

Announcement of Senate and Assembly committee memberships completes the major organizational work for the present session. When the time comes for the first hearings on bills, all the groups in both houses will be ready and waiting.

Bill introduction continues at a much slower rate than in any previous regular session. Many measures are known to be in process, but the consensus is that the final total will be much smaller than in any of the past few bifurcated regular sessions.

Important among the current actions being taken by your Legislature are the extensions of life being given to several interim committees, which will permit them to continue and complete their studies and recommendations. The joint committees on water problems and water resources will carry on their work on how to supply the life-giving fluid to all parts of the state.

Also continued will be the joint committee on assessment practices. This group has the complex and delicate task of developing legislation which may be needed to iron out inequities in the assessment of private property for purposes of local taxation. The matter has been the subject of intense though not violent controversy for several years.

The life of the joint education committee will also be extended. This group, together with its citizens' advisory committee, is engaged in a long range study of the public school system, its operation and its financing.

Legislation in the field of labor-management relations is certain to be a major topic at this session. The Governor's lengthy message to us recommended a large number of changes in and additions to present law in the field. Bills embodying his proposal for "greater democracy and more responsibility" in labor union affairs are in the mill and will shortly before us.

Though the Governor's recommendations were greeted with enthusiasm by leaders in both parties, it is already apparent that they will not have completely smooth sailing through both of our houses. In his message, the Governor suggested that many of his proposals be enacted on a temporary basis, pending passage of federal legislation covering the same matters. Sharp questions, emanating in some cases from the circles of organized labor, are even now being directed at various elements in the program.

It is evident that water project legislation will again be a major item on our agenda. The Governor's program for water development will be carefully studied by lawmakers from both ends of our state, but it is too early to make any predictions as to the eventual action. Only one thing seems certain, and that is that all parties will do everything in their power to settle the controversial matter on a fair and equitable basis at this session of the legislature.

As committee hearings on bills begin early in February, we legislators will really be able to tackle the many important problems which must be properly solved in the interests of the continued prosperity of our great State.

CROP PRODUCTION AT RECORD HIGH

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29.—Crop production in the United States reached an all-time high—11 per cent larger than the previous high—in 1958. Harvested acreage was the third lowest in over 20 years, but per-acre production brought the record total.

Medical Mirror

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

Note to readers: Thanks for all the nice letters. As many questions as possible will be answered in this column, but for obvious reasons replies must be brief.

Q. "Could you discuss sleeping sickness? Will look for answer in Medical Mirror."—Mrs. M.

A. Sleeping sickness (epidemic encephalitis) as it occurs in North America, is caused by a brain-damaging virus of which there are at least three varieties—"St. Louis" (because it was first recognized there), "Eastern" and "Western." There is evidence to indicate that the virus is spread by wild birds. Mosquitoes pass the virus from bird to bird and probably from bird to man and certain large animals. Persons stricken with sleeping sickness have fever, severe headache and a general feeling of sickness. They may be very nauseated and out of their head. The delirious state lasts a few days in most cases but in some it may drag on for weeks. Science has not yet found a sure cure for sleeping sickness. Mosquito control seems to be the only way to prevent or check outbreaks of the disease.

Q. If the wife needs a blood transfusion is it wise to use the husband as the donor?

A. This is a matter for the physician to decide. There is probably no blanket rule to follow. Generally, a husband-to-wife transfusion would be considered provided they are of the same blood type. This need not mean that the husband's blood matches the wife's blood exactly since more than 30 different blood factors have been identified. Blood is usually classified according to "type." Special tests are performed to find out whether the husband's and wife's blood match as to Rh factor.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Union Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when

Make Breakfast the Best Meal of the Day

For a serve-yourself breakfast or company brunch, Ham 'n Eggs Goldenrod is a savory dish.

How are your family's breakfast eating habits? Do they start off each day with a well-balanced morning meal? September, long celebrated as Better Breakfast Month, is the time to take a good look at breakfast habits. For this morning meal, which "breaks the fast" since the previous day's dinner, can well be your most important meal of the day. Children, and working adults (including homemakers, too) need the nutrition of a well planned breakfast to start the day. This meal should supply from 1/4 to 1/3 of the daily food needs.

A good breakfast includes fruit, a protein dish or cereal, buttered toast or rolls and plenty of milk to drink. You will probably choose a simple menu on weekdays, when time is at a premium; but on weekends, when there are no buses to catch, why not take a little extra time to prepare a special meal?

Here's a breakfast planned for such a leisurely morning or for brunchtime entertaining. Ham 'n Eggs Goldenrod combines two breakfast favorites in a smooth cream sauce. Serve it over chow mein noodles, along with hot biscuits and honey butter. Broiled grapefruit to start and plenty of milk to drink complete the menu.

Ham 'n Eggs Goldenrod

5 hard-cooked eggs
1 cup finely diced cooked ham (1/2 pound)
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup flour
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper, to taste
Chow mein noodles or buttered toast cups

Shell eggs, cut in half and remove yolks. Press yolks through a fine sieve and set aside. Chop whites coarsely and combine with ham. Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk stirring constantly. Cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in ham and egg whites; then season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve over chow mein noodles or buttered toast cups; top with sieved egg yolks. Makes 6 servings.

To Make Buttered Toast Cups, cut crusts from slices of soft bread. Spread butter on both sides and press into muffin pans. Bake at 375° until golden.

State winners will be eligible to compete in a national contest sponsored by the company, for which a $5,000 scholarship will be awarded.

STATE TO PRODUCE FEWER TURKEYS

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29—Indications now are that California turkey growers will produce fewer birds in 1959 than in 1958, with the 1959 figure estimated at 13,500,000 birds. National turkey production is estimated at five per cent above last year.

With so many church and school potlucks, chamber of commerce banquets, and the carryover from Christmas you should be about ready for a few days behind a shovel. We have these in three sizes according to where your back bends best. We guarantee they'll do wonders to your waist line. They may not work off that last piece of pie but properly used they'll make you too tired for the next one.

There are other garden tools for hoeing, raking, scratching, and so forth. We are somewhat allergic to these and try to get rid of them whenever possible. There are some special and unusual tools available for you odd ones that know how to use the things.

Entries will be judged principally on the basis of their sincerity and quality of thought. All entries become the property of Tuesday Bonus merchants and the decision of the judges is final.

Employees of The Farm Tribune and their immediate families are not eligible to enter the contest. Owners and employees of Tuesday Bonus Stores can win the additional awards only on sales slips from stores other than that with which they are connected.

We Only Heard
By BILL RODGERS

IT WAS about 11 years ago that Babe Hodgson and Rolla Bishop came by the office to tell us that we were going to a meeting—never mind what kind of a meeting, just come along. We drove out to Allan Coates' house, where Mrs. Coates, then one of the community PTA heads, agreed with everything that Hodgson and Bishop said, and the next thing we knew, we were on a committee to assist with a group of girl riders that was being organized under sponsorship of the Porterville fair and the PTA.

OF COURSE this group became Porterville's Fair Canterbelles, later just Porterville's Canterbelles, when some of the girls suggested that the word "fair" might be taken by some to mean not good, but fair.

FIRST DIRECTOR was Toni Faure, assisted by Barbara Richardson, and first ride that the Canterbelles made was at the second annual Porterville fair, when this event was still located at Porterville high school.

AS WE recall, 24 girls rode with that first drill team, and about the only thing that resembled a uniform were the Levis that all the girls wore. And if we had critiqued that first public appearance, we would have had to say that at least the confusion was organized—to some extent.

BUT A couple of years later the Canterbelles, dressed in colorful outfits, rode as a feature of the Tulare county fair, and their sharp, precision drill brought the house down. And brought $100 into the Canterbelle coffers.

FROM THEN on they were in demand; they rode at the Porterville Roundup and the Springville Rodeo, they went back to Tulare several times; they appeared at the Kern county fair; at the Glennville rodeo; the Poly Royal; the Kernville rodeo; at many other events and in many parades. Their collection of trophies attests to their ability—if there was ever any doubt about it.

FOR SEVERAL of those early years we had the privilege of traveling with the Canterbelles and announcing their drill. Back in those days Fair board members dug up trailers, and drove trucks and pickups in order to get the girls to wherever they were supposed to be. On some trips it was necessary to hire a livestock truck to carry horses.

AND WE can personally recall the times that we have stood in the public address stand, giving the little preliminary pitch, then letting the girls have the entry line—"And now, ladies and gentlemen, for your pleasure, Porterville's Fair Canterbelles. Give 'em a real ride, kids." Always we wondered if they were ready, but they always were, except once.

THAT WAS at Glennville. We tossed out the come on line and nothing happened, except some frantic arm waving over by the arena gate—arm waving that we knew must mean, "They're not ready."

SO WE ad libbed and ad libbed and ad libbed, while Johnny Keck, then the director, stirred up a storm as he moved through the area looking for the missing girls. And we must confess that before we got the all-clear sign, we were at a loss for words—in front of 4,000 rodeo fans who obviously wanted something to happen, and standing beside a couple of rodeo committeemen who let it be known that something better happen—pronto.

IT WAS at Kernville that the Canterbelles proved themselves real trouperes. They were booked to ride as a feature of the annual rodeo there. The wind was blowing, the sand was flying, the sun was hot, the situation was generally miserable. As they came into the arena, their horses hit spots of hardpan, then spots of desert sand. A couple of horses went to their knees during the drill, the lead riders moved the group down the arena by lengthening the drill figures as they felt for firm footing—which they never found. But the girls rode the drill, meeting the situation as it was in true "the show must go on" tradition.

AND THERE was the time at the Porterville Roundup when the team had been fired up by the promise that a director of the state fair would review them for a possible ride at Sacramento. We had the state fair director in the stands, all right, but what happened? One horse took it into his hammer head to go hog wild in the wrong direction, then did just that. The state fair director was understanding about it all—but.

IN COMPARING first pictures taken of the Canterbelles with their modern pictures, it is almost unbelievable how far this group has come.

TODAY VIRTUALLY all Canterbelle families provide their own transportation; there is probably not a single horse that was ridden in the first drill that could even stay in the same arena with the fine horses that the girls now have. And, with their ups and downs through the years, the Canterbelles have always moved up in the long haul.

PARENTS, OF course, have been a great factor in success of the Canterbelles, but the real work has fallen to the directors. We mentioned Toni, Barbara and Johnny; others were Delores Fritter, Doris Karstaedt and the present director, Evon Beaver, who rode with the original Canterbelle group.

WELL, THE Canterbelles took another step Tuesday night, when, at request of Canterbelle parents, members of the Porterville Fair board released them from sponsorship to go on their own. We hope their course continues upward—we are sure that it will.

BUT IF we were to offer a word of implied advice, we would repeat what an old hand with riding groups told Babe Hodgson 11 years ago during the preliminary planning for the Canterbelle group, "You'll never have any serious trouble with the kids," he said. "The controversy will be among the parents."

United States pig crop in 1958 totalled 94.8 million head, eight per cent more than in 1957.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

THERE HAS BEEN A GREAT weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth hereabouts of late. This week was report card time in the local schools. "Students" have viewed these gauges of their skill, or lack of it, with mingled feelings. Many are sure that they have been completely misjudged, or else the teacher has them confused with some guy named "Joe".

IT IS ALMOST A UNIVERSAL opinion among the recipients of these scholastic love letters, that they have been down graded. Secretly, probably many feel that they got what they deserved, and knew what was coming, but it looks so much worse in black and white. For a week or two, our young scholars will be considerably stimulated and fired with zeal to do better, but with next cards, we will hear the old chant, "I was robbed".

THE OTHER NIGHT, we put on a coat, tie and our best cultured air and went to the Barn Theater. Many other citizens had the same notion, and we pushed and tugged about the premises and refreshed ourselves with a view of "The Matchmaker". Mr. Wilder wrote this play one morning when he was feeling a trifle giddy which affected the continuity somewhat, but spiced up the dialogue with some very snappy lines. Elizabeth Dobson and Eldon Hunt have the leads and carry on like old pros, and generally keep the audience very much awake. We have put in many plugs for the Barn for which we have received nothing, but we are happy to recommend this current play. It's good from top to bottom and sideways to boot.

WE READ AN ARTICLE in defense of trees in the Farm Tribune recently. Our Editor is a very mercurial gentleman, and a man of deep loves. It seems that he loved the trees in the parking lot opposite the fire house, and when they were rudely pruned off at the ground level, his blood pressure arose to astounding heights. This caused a lively bit bers heard a report from Betty Noble concerning operation of the fair's home economics department, of which Mrs. Noble is chairman. She said that 4-H leaders favored a different type of judging than used last year; she and Rolla Bishop, fair secretary, were authorized to work out some form of a modified Danish judging plan.

A committee composed of Directors Bob Board and Bill Rodgers, Guy Knupp Jr., fair board counsel, and Gilbert Velie, insurance agent, was named to confer with city officials relative to the fair board taking over complete control of fair buildings that are located on city property and assuming full insurance responsibility.

Directors expressed dissatisfaction with present fire coverage of the main exhibit building by the city of Porterville at $25,000, stating that the board has a moral obligation to the community to insure at replacement value so that the fair would not be put out of business by a serious fire.

A detailed accounting of material that has gone into fair facilities shows a replacement value of about $64,000 for all buildings, including the exhibit building, livestock barns, poultry barn, office and dressing room.

Chester Gilbert, director in charge of dairy exhibits, reported that a butterfat contest will be conducted for milking cows exhibited during the three days of the fair; Rufus Roth, of the Porterville high school agriculture faculty, will conduct the official tests.

Ernie Cassidy, exhibits superintendent, reported that 30 contracts have now been signed for commercial exhibits and that a number of business firms have displays under consideration.

Rolla Bishop, reporting for the livestock division, called attention to recent action that established a firm policy that all live-of impassioned prose to flow from his typewriter in defense of trees as upstanding members of the community.

THIS IS ONE TIME when the Editor and your random correspondent see eye to eye and tree to tree. No matter what the Chamber of Commerce says, we are living in what was once a virtual desert that had the horned toads hunting for shade. By use of water and judgment, we have pretty well changed the environment hereabouts. But, one of the most important things this change is trees. We are all for trees: big, little, young and old, and every time we see one chopped down, we figure it's a step to the rear. Paradoxically, we have the Garden Club talking of planting orange trees on the streets for decorative purposes, and the power that be chopping them down for other purposes. One hand does not know what the other hand is doing; or, one hand planteth and the other hand chopeth.

Irrigation Program Goes On The Air

TULARE, Jan. 29—Ames Irrigation review, a program that will deal with all phases of the water problem, will go on the air weekly at 12:40 p. m., KCOK, starting next Tuesday, with Jack Stubbs as host. The program is sponsored by the W. R. Ames company; local representative is Valley Welding.

stock exhibitors must have their record books on file at the fair office before they will be allowed to show, or sell their animals.

It has also been agreed that the pre-4-H division will be continued for the 1959 fair but will be eliminated in 1960.

Bill Reece, director in charge of the sheep and swine division, said that more fat barrow and sheep will be shown this year than ever before, creating a space problem that directors will have to iron out prior to fair opening on May 21.

Directors also voted to provide a new type of ribbon for the annual pet parade—a ribbon that will be different from those awarded in the livestock divisions of the fair.

Director Guido Lombardi reported that plans for the annual Quarter Horse show, set for the afternoon of May 22, are progressing smoothly; he said that he will send out a letter to association members telling of the show, and of the Porterville fair generally.

Naming of a new director to the fair board was postponed until a later date. Attending the Tuesday meeting were: Cyrille Faure, A. K. Hodgson, Robert Bennett, Roscoe Honeycutt, Freeland Farnsworth, Bishop, Lombardi, Board, Gilbert, Rodgers and Reece, fair directors; Mrs. Noble, Bussey and Thompson, and Jim Martinez, the latter a guest.

siding in Tulare, it has been difficult to maintain contact in the mountain country.

Originally, Dennison precinct was in the first district, however, a number of years ago the change was made in order to equalize the mileage of mountain road in the various supervisorial districts, which at that time also had road districts with a special tax to help finance road work.

If the proposed change is made, the northern boundary of the first district will become the Sequoia Park southern line.
